

Salt Lake, Utah, Nov. 11.—A warrant has been sworn out charging Elder J. Grant, one of the leading apostles of the Mormon church, with unlawful relations with Augusta Winters Granger and Emily Wells Grant at the same time. The apostle was convicted in 1898 of the same offense and fined $500. The prosecution of Mr. Grant at this time is due in part to his public admission before the students of the Utah university on Nov. 4 that he had two wives and that he donated to the alumni scholarship fund $50 for himself and $50 for each of his two wives.

The territorial grand jury at Oklahoma City returned an indictment against fifteen lumber-dealers charging them with being in a combination to restrict trade in violation of the Oklahoma anti-trust law.

THE LAW'S DELAYS

Justice Brewer of the United States Supreme court writes, in the Independent, that in one of the states, a great railroad company appeals every judgment rendered against it to the supreme court of the state—that court having a crowded docket—and by this practice made enough, in compromising the judgments, to pay the entire cost of its legal department. A man obtaining a judgment for $5,000 is usually willing to compromise for $3000, rather than undergo the delay incident to appeal. It may be said that it is such facts as these that are responsible for so much of the complaint of the progress of justice in this country, and so much distrust of the corporations for using their power of capital and influence to secure advantages which are impossible to the individual.

Justice Brewer's statement is made in an argument "Hitherto made in an argument of an argument against the right of appeal is civil and criminal cases. It has been severely criticised for making this suggestion, as it has been supposed that the right of appeal was like the right of life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness. But the justice shows that the right of appeal which is equivalent to the right of two trials, is not guaranteed by the constitution of the United States, nor is it a natural right. It is a mere question of policy whether the privilege should be conferred or not. Justice Brewer says not.

Unquestionably if every man was restricted to one trial, whether the case be civil or criminal, there would be much more pains taken with that one trial. As it is now the first trial is conducted simply to establish technical grounds for appeal. The result is an overloading of the dockets of the courts of appeal, long delays in litigation, and ultimate injustice is fostered by the present system.

The suggestion of Justice Brewer is well worth careful consideration. That it is natural to feel a reluctance to cut off from the man convicted of crime the right of appeal, goes without saying, but even in case the person accused of the crime is restricted to one trial, he would still have recourse to executive clemency in the few cases which develop where newly developed facts establish innocence. Perhaps a fair compromise might be reached on the basis of granting new trials only when new testimony of material character is discovered. Something at least must be done to limit the law's delays. It may be said that the criminal convicted in England has no appeal except to the secretary of state for clemency by the king. If he has been convicted of a capital offense, execution follows inside of four weeks.

GOOD CHANCE.

The death of Judge Esteo of the United States court for the territory of Hawaii opened the way for President Roosevelt to gratify Gov. Dole in his desire to be relieved of the duties of the governorship—made doubly burdensome and vexatious by the untimely action of congress in giving the natives too large a share in the legislative and administrative functions of the government—while still retaining his services for the nation. The fact that he is a trained lawyer, added to his life-long experience in Hawaiian affairs, indicated him as of all others the most fit to succeed Judge Esteo. He has accordingly been appointed to the vacant bench; while George B. Carter—a young American of wealth, who has been serving as the secretary of state, and who has the personal confidence of the president, is made governor. Both appointments are admirable.

NOT DEMOCRATIC.

The election of George B. McClellan to the mayoralty of Greater New York will, of course, be claimed as a Democratic victory—and so in fact it was, but there was no politics in the contest except on the democratic side. The fusion campaign like the democratic sidefusion ticket was wholly non-partisan. There was no political issue before the voters of the state at large, for the only state-candidate was O'Brien for judge of the supreme court, nominated by the democrats and endorsed by the republicans. In every other Northern state the republicans appear to have won a sweeping victory. In Ohio they claim over 100,000 majority, in Pennsylvania 150,000 and no break of the solid republican front is visible elsewhere in the north. The measure returns from Maryland seem to indicate the probability of republican success there by a small majority.

ANNEXATION.

Goldwin Smith will suddenly find that he has lots of company on the annexation issue. For the past ten or twelve years he had been practically alone among the Canadians who wanted political union with the United States, but many are saying it now. The fact that though the United States is thirteen times as populous as Canada it is increasing at a ratio nearly twice as fast as the Dominion is an eloquent evidence of the working of that law of political gravitation which must draw Canada into the American republic. The initiative, however, in getting the union will have to be taken by the Canadians themselves. They have more to gain by the amalgamation than the Americans have.

PRESS COMMENT.

Shawano Journal: If the voters are sincere in demanding a new deal it will not be long until new cards are passed around among the people, and new hands will be called to the office.

Chippewa Herald: It is said that graft and corruption will cease when woman comes into her rights at the polls. Would it corrupt woman, and make her hungry for the graft now sought by man?

Shawano Journal: Wisconsin is fifty-five years old and in spite of a rather shaky corn crop and a good deal of politics, largely on the peanut variety, is a commonwealth of which all may feel proud.

Shawano Advocate: The Madison Journal styles the cause of no state taxes this year, "fruit of Scotland's administration." We believe this is about right, but the present governor will take all the credit and work it for all it's worth.

Milwaukee News: The results of the election, not only in those states where the democrats made gains and recovered their own, but in Ohio, Pennsylvania, and Iowa, point to Hanna as the logical candidate for the republican party. Bourbonism, both republican and democratic, was uniformly successful. Hanna is a Bourbon and Bourbonism is in the saddle.

Appleton Crescent: Here are two questionable cases of good faith. Hanna speaks approvingly of Cleveland and La Follette commending Bryan. Grover Cleveland is not before the people for election, therefore the Ohio dispenser of corruption funds can afford to praise the former. Our governor is glad to rally to his aid all the "fair-minded" democrats possible to offset stalwart defection.

East Claire Leader: The success which has attended the raising of tobacco in northern Wisconsin for three successive years is bound to lead to the most gratifying results. Farmers find now that this is the best paying crop they can plant, the net profit being fully $70 per acre, or fully four times as much as could be made on grain. The handling of the leaf after it is cured is also an industry of great magnitude. Thousands of hands are employed at such centers as Sparta and Edgerton and immense sums are paid out for wages. Tobacco is bound to become one of the great staples of Wisconsin and the most profitable.

Wausara Argus: How mighty fortunate for the present state administration it is that Governor Scofield secured that tax levy to reimburse the depleted general fund, secured that fund of $498,000 from the general government, and that the revenues from licenses have so largely increased. It placed enough money in the treasury so that a tax levy is unnecessary this year which fact is taken advantage of to give new impetus to that "aggressive campaign affirmatively." It might be well, however, before claiming too much credit to show just how much less it has cost to run the state while this surplus has been accumulating. The people will be glad enough to escape the tax, but it is possible they may also be fair enough to demand that the credit be given where it is due.

SCHUMAN CLUB GAVE A RECITAL

HOWARD WELLS OF CHICAGO, A FINISHED ARTIST.

GENERAL SOCIETY GOSSIP

Several Parties Planned for the Coming Week—Personal Notes.

One hundred members and guests of the Schumann club last night enjoyed one of the rare musical treats of the season in the recital of Mr. Howard Wells of Chicago at the Grand Hotel parlors. Mr. Wells is a most finished artist and his beautiful rendering of the best works of the old masters delighted the music lovers of Janesville who were present. Mr. Wells' program was well chosen and was composed of some of the masterpieces of the composers whose music was played. His touch is remarkably expressive and at the close of the set numbers he was forced to respond to three encores. His march "Grosesque," by Sinding, was charming as was his closing number by Liszt a Hungarian Rhapsody No. 10. Mr. Wells has a most pleasing manner while playing and his beautiful music kept the audience in raptures during the entire program. The program was as follows: Mendelssohn, Prelude, and Fugue in E Minor; Schubert, Impromptu Op. 90, No. 3; Schubert, Liszt, Solenne De Vienna; Chopin, Fantasia in F Minor, Op. 49, (b) Waltz, Op. 54, No. 2, (c) Nocturne, Op. 15, No. 2, (d) Etude Op. 10, No. 12; Sgambati, (a) Canonetta, (b) Conbattimento; Sinding, Marcon Grosesque; Liszt, (a) Nightingale, (b) Hungarian Rhapsody, No. 10.

On Friday evening next the members of the Woman's Union Labor League are planning to give a card party and entertainment for all union men and their wives at Assembly hall. The program to be arranged for the evening promises to be very interesting to those who are fortunate enough to attend.

Edward J. Kann & Co., of Chicago, have just completed final arrangements for the opening of a big clothing and gent's furnishing store in Janesville. Two of the gentlemen interested in the concern called at the Gazette office yesterday to arrange for their advertising. It is their intention to do a big business and they will consequently use the columns of the Gazette freely. A letter was received by the advertising department of the Gazette today, from the Chicago headquarters of Kann & Co. The letter was relative to their contract, as they expect to advertise heavily as soon as they open for business about two weeks from today.

WILL HAVE AN EXCELLENT TEAM

GIRLS AT HIGH SCHOOL BEGIN BASKET BALL.

THERE ARE MANY INTERESTED

Good Turnouts for Practice Games—
Teams Are Not Yet Picked.

Considerable interest is being taken by the girls of the high school in basket ball. Practice games are held in the girls' gymnasium twice a week, and about twenty girls line up each time. As yet no teams have been formed but it is expected that in a few weeks a first team and a "sub" team will be chosen, and then the regular work of the season will begin, and match games may be played with the teams of other high schools. Good material is being found and a fine team ought to be the outcome after a month more of steady practice, for the girls are enthusiastic and ready and willing to work as hard as the boys do in football.

Fine Game.
In spite of all the basket ball controversy going on at present in the various girls' colleges, it is generally conceded by the majority that it is a splendid game and good exercise for the weaker sex, when not overdone. It develops self-control and self-reliance, perseverance and endurance; and that side, wins where there is the best team work, every member working together and for the team, not playing for herself alone.

Need Quickness.
Each year new rules and regulations are added to make the game more complicated, but as it is usually played, there are five on a side, the two forwards being the ones on whom the responsibility rests of putting the ball in the basket, while for the guards great quickness and agility are needed, and the center must be "all over the field at once," this is the most important position and she must possess considerable "staying power" and the ability to "think quickly" and not get "rattled."

Many Good Teams in State.
Many of the girls' schools in the state have very good teams already formed, and the Janesville girls hope to add as much to the reputation of their "Alma Mater" in their games of basket ball, as the boys have done in football.

ELECTRIC STORM LAST EVENING

It Surprised Many—Gave Welcome
Relief from the Recent Dust.

Summer has lingered on in Rock county and last night apparently tried to give a parting good-bye with a midsummer thunder storm. The rain started during the evening and it was the first molature from the clouds that has descended on Janesville for some time. At twelve o'clock the cannonading in the upper atmosphere began. At first there were no rumblings which in the warm rolling peals which in the warm months are warning signals for picnickers to run to cover.

Early in the morning there were some loud claps and the rain came down in torrents. This will be a welcome relief from the dust which has roamed recklessly around the streets during the last two weeks, and has been an unwelcome visitor ever since.

The woman who wore the latest style of hats which extend forward and upward two or three feet from the heads of the fair wearers, have had their troubles for these bonnets make good weather vanes.

CAT WARNED THE FAMILY OF FIRE

Sagacity of the Pet Cat in the James Fifield Household Saved
the Home.

Last Saturday morning shortly after twelve o'clock the fire department were called to the residence of James Fifield on Washington street to extinguish a small blaze. While the house was filled with smoke and considerable damage was done it was quickly put out by the department. The strange feature of the whole occurrence was that the first warning of the fire that the Fifield family had was from the pet cat who awoke the servant girl just as the smoke was gaining headway throughout the house.

Wonderful Story.
The wonderful sagacity of the feline in awakening the family when danger threatened them is remarkable. The cat is a pet of the household and sleeps downstairs. On Friday night she persisted in coming into Mr. Fifield's room and tried to attract his attention by jumping on his bed. He drove the animal out and downstairs. Nothing daunted the cat went up the back stairs to the servant's room and awoke her by clawing at the bed clothes.

Full of Smoke.
When the girl awoke the room was filled with smoke and she rushed into Mr. Fifield's room and woke him. He promptly telephoned in an alarm and the fire was quickly put out. Had it not been for the cat it would have gained headway and might have resulted in a dangerous loss of property and perhaps life.

Peal of Thunder. Even sound sleepers were awakened last night by a peal of thunder that seemed to shake the very earth beneath it. The lightning struck the wires connected with the electrical machinery at the dam and two fuses were blown out. Lights in the county jail and other places in the city were put out by the flash.

MUCH MYSTERY IN THE CLOSING

Maynard Shoe Company in the Hands of a Chicago Receiving Firm.

An air of mystery surrounds the closing of the doors of the Maynard Shoe company's store on the May bridge and the announcement posted that Stevens Bros., adjusters of Chicago, have taken charge of the stock and will dispose of it at bargain sales. Neither Mr. Maynard nor Mr. G. F. Stevens, who is in charge of the stock would state the cause of the temporary closing, except that the doors would be opened shortly and a special sale conducted. In speaking of the matter Mr. G. F. Stevens, with offices in Chicago, said: "The store is only closed for the time being. I am not in a position to say much regarding the matter, except that an adjustment is being made and the stock will be sold." While, as stated, no definite information can be obtained it is understood that it is a difficulty that often arises between such extensive buyers as the Maynard Shoe company and the large wholesale companies that they buy of. The firm of Stevens & Co. are often called into such work by the wholesalers and this is thought to be a similar case.

Receivers of the United States district court yesterday took possession of the property of Sutter Brothers, a corporation at 157 Lake street, Chicago, which is recognized as one of the largest concerns in the country dealing in leaf tobacco. For more than thirty years Louis and Adolph Sutter have been conducting this business, and the petition of creditors to have them adjudged bankrupt caused great surprise in the trade.

WILSON LANE MAKES PLANS

He Will Build a Fine Business Block on North Main Street.

Further arrangements have been made by Wilson Lane for the erection of a business block on the lots recently purchased by him on North Main street. The cost of the structure will be in the neighborhood of $6000 and Contractor DeWent will begin work as soon as weather conditions permit. Two stores and two flats will be the arrangement and the plans call for a two-story and basement structure, 44 feet wide by 40 feet deep. The building will improve that part of the street materially and will likely increase property value.

NARROW ESCAPE OF A MILTON CLARK

D. L. Clark and Wife Were Run
Into by a St. Paul Train.

D. L. Clark and wife of Milton, while attempting to cross the St. Paul tracks near that town were run into by a passenger and with the horse and both were thrown into a ditch. Both Mr. and Mrs. Clark were injured. Mr. Clark seriously, and the buggy entirely demolished. The accident was reported when the train reached Janesville. Engineer Warren was the first to see the buggy on the track and the occupants of the latter became so excited on seeing the approaching engine, that, according to the men in the cab, their efforts to get the horse over the rails were of little use and the animal seemed to slacken its speed. Just as the rear of the rig was leaving the track the locomotive struck the wheel and threw the outfit into the ditch. The trial was immediately stopped and efforts made to care for the injured.

COUNTY BOARD IS KEPT BUSY

COMMUNICATIONS AND REPORTS RECEIVED—COUNTY'S WATCH.

CONDITIONS GOOD AT ASYLUM

Mr. Tripp Presents Board with Memories—Gives Sections of Sidewalk to Members.

The first session of the county board which was called to order Tuesday morning at ten o'clock transacted the usual business and received a number of communications and reports. There were thirty-eight members present and Chairman White presided. A communication from A. A. Russell in regard to the Red Cross ambulance service was read and referred to the committee of trustees.

County Owns Watch.
George Seegmiller, poor master for the southern district gave his report. Among other things he told of a gold watch which had come into his possession through the death of the owner and asked as to what should be done with the timepiece. It was decided that the watch should be sold, the proceeds to go into the treasury.

Committee on Salaries.
Resolutions were presented concerning the formation of a committee of three to fix the salaries of the county officers for 1904, as according to statute this must be done a year previous to the election. The resolutions were adopted and Livermore, Paul and Hopkins were appointed to the committee.

Tripp Presents Mahogany Blocks.
C. E. Langworthy was re-elected trustee of the asylum, George Seegmiller was elected superintendent to succeed himself and L. N. Nelson, janitor at the courthouse was retained in his official capacity. W. H. Tripp, famous for his mahogany sidewalk, appeared before the board and presented every member with a block of wood taken from his property. One of these pieces was somewhat larger than the others and contained a knot-hole, this was presented to the chairman and later decorated with ribbons. Mr. Gotte moved that a vote of thanks be extended to Mr. Tripp for his remembrance.

Other Reports.
Mr. Langworthy, as president of the board of trustees of the insane asylum and poor house, gave his report on the conditions of those county institutions and W. C. McIntyre, gave the superintendent's and physician's record. Mr. McIntyre, as superintendent of assessments, gave his second annual report.

This morning the board was called to order shortly after ten o'clock and W. G. Palmer presented his report on the Soldier's relief commission.

TOBACCO FIRM IN MUCH DIFFICULTY

Sutter Brothers, with Many Factories and Warehouses, in Receiver's Hands.

LIABILITIES OF THE CONCERN ARE SAID TO EXCEED $1,500,000, AND WHILE THE NOMINAL VALUE OF THE ASSETS IS SAID TO BE ABOUT $2,000,000 IT IS ASSER- TION ON GOOD AUTHORITY THAT THE COR- PORATION IS INSOLVENT. BANKS IN THE EAST AND IN CHICAGO ARE AMONG THE LARGEST CREDITORS, THOUGH MANY OF THEIR CLAIMS ARE SECURED BY WAREHOUSE RE- CEIPTS GIVEN FOR LOANS.

Proceedings Begun by Agreement.
While the petition was of an involuntary character, the fact that it was filed by three relative of the Sutter brothers, who are employees of the concern, indicates that the proceedings were begun by agreement. The firm expected to be able to meet its obligations by securing loans, but had difficulty in raising money.

As soon as the petition was filed the creditors' representatives went before Judge Kohlsaat and William C. Niblack and Eugene C. Pearson were appointed receivers for the court. Their joint bond was fixed at $1,000,000, the largest ever filed in the Chicago bankruptcy court.

Firm Has Several Factories.
The Sutter Brothers' corporation was organized a few years ago, though Louis and Adolph Sutter had been in the same business for more than thirty years. They did a large business as jobbers and wholesale dealers in tobacco leaf, their principal factories being in Chicago, New York, St. Louis and Dayton, O. Besides they have a large warehouse at Madison, Wis., and grounds for growing the leaf at Delavan, Wis.

The figures given out $1,500,000, are about right," said Adolph Sutter last evening, "but I cannot see, since the court has ordered that the business continue, how it will affect us. We have made plans whereby we expect to straighten out matters within thirty days."

Mr. Sutter declared that all persons having claims against the firm would be satisfied and that after the difficulty is settled the firm of Sutter Brothers would still remain a prominent factor in the tobacco market of the world.

Christian Science: The regular mid-week meeting of the First Church of Christ Scientist will be held at the rooms in the Phoebe block, Milwaukee street, at 7:30 o'clock this evening.

The Cabbage Patch which is the old scene of Mrs. Alice Hegan Rice's two delightful books ("Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch" and "Loverly Mary") and which is now put upon the stage in the Myers Grand theatre, this city, Tuesday evening, is a unique discovery. The Patch really exists in Louisville, Ky., the home of Mrs. Rice, and she used to visit its residents just as Lucy, the "Christmas Lady" in her own stories told Mrs. Wiggs. So impressed was she by its various curious types of lower life that she was unconsciously led to depict them in a few little sketches which she wrote for the Author's club, of Louisville. The now famous figure of cheerful motherly Mrs. Wiggs, that bids fair to live forever as an idea

The prying, prowling army of tourists and newspaper interviewers has put her upon the war path against any further identification with the character. Everyone who has read the stories and become charmed with the lovable old Mrs. Wiggs will wonder, perhaps, why Mrs. Bass should have objected so extremely to a popular supposition which flatters her so exceedingly; but probably Mrs. Bass is selfishly concerned with the humorous aspects of Mrs. Wiggs and doesn't wish to be considered as indulging in the quaintly funny slips of language and "malapropisms" that distinguish "Mrs. Wiggs." Certainly she could not object to being the mother of those famous sayings, so full of mingled wisdom and humor, which are so liberally sprinkled throughout Mrs. Wiggs' conversations and some of which have become familiar household spherisms already.

At any rate, the credit of being considered the original of Mrs. Wiggs has worked the remarkable contrary effect of causing Mrs. Bass to lose—every vestige of that cheerfulness and angelic disposition which has endeared Mrs. Rice's creation to all. It has become a hazardous feat to ap-

HUNTER TAKES MAN FOR DEER

Youth Severs Victim's Jugular and Will Be Tried for Manslaughter.
 Marquette, Mich., Nov. 11.—Miss taken for a deer, David P. Pickett, married, a carpenter, was shot and almost instantly killed by Free Murray, son of a leading grocer. The fatality is the first of the hunting season in this section, occurring about eight miles from town. The bullet struck Pickett in the neck, severing the jugular vein. Under the provisions of a new law the killing of a man while hunting is held to be manslaughter, punishable by imprisonment for not exceeding ten years or by fine not exceeding $1,000. Prosecution is made mandatory.

GIVES LAND FOR ORPHAN HOME

Bright's Disease and Diabetes News

Office Wine and Spirit Review.

San Francisco, Nov. 3.

To the Editor of the Gazette:

Dear Sir:—The business men of this city who are now proclaiming to the world the discovery of the cure for Bright's disease and Diabetes have asked me as one of the beneficiaries to write to some of my brother editors. Hence this letter to you, I was at first skeptical as anyone, I had reason to be. I had a clear case of chronic Bright's Disease; was ill for a year. It was not thought I would live thirty days. The President of the Pacific States Type Foundry told my wife that the newly discovered diuretic would save my life, and against my private convictions I was put on it. In six months my recovery was complete.

A friend of mine, Dr. A. J. Howe, a prominent physician, was nearly dead with Bright's Disease. On my recovery I told him and it acted the same in his case and he is now well on the road to recovery. I told one of the writers on the Call, whose mother had Diabetes. She has fully recovered. As a brother editor I personally assure you of the truth of the discovery. Thousands of lives are to be saved and I am writing in the hope that this letter will start some of them right.

Fraternally yours,

R. M. WOOD, Editor.

GARDUI BABIES

Many homes are mere lonely abodes because no children are there. Barrenness exists in almost every case because female diseases have paralyzed the organs of womanhood. Wine of Cardui imparts health and strength to the diseased parts and makes motherhood possible in thousands of cases where barrenness is supposed to be incurable. Wine of Cardui regulates the menstrual flow and also prevents miscarriage and cures bearing down pains. Wine of Cardui removes the cause of barrenness by making the female organism strong and healthy.

Go to your druggist and secure a $1.00 bottle of Wine of Cardui. The use of Wine of Cardui will bring happiness to your home.

WM. T. HODGE, WHO WILL BE "MRS. WIGGS" IN "MRS. WIGGS OF THE CABBAGE PATCH."

Incarnation of American optimism and humor, thus made her how in this humble fashion, and report declares that Mrs. Rice had no conception of the true universal greatness of her creation until long after she had been amusing her sister club members with these earliest slight and crude sketches based upon her half missionary visits to the poor white settlement of the Cabbage Patch. Everybody in Louisville thoroughly believes that the original suggestion for Mrs. Wiggs came from living personage of the Patch there, one Mrs. Mary Bass, who is persistently referred to there by everybody, young and old, as Mrs. Wiggs. Since the extreme popularity of the books has brought thousands of tourists to Louisville who rush from the train to photograph and get a glimpse of that now classic region of ramshackle cottages and broken down surroundings, Mrs. Bass' home is constantly being pointed out as Mrs. Wiggs' house. All this publicity does not seem to have effected this supposed original prototype of Mrs. Wiggs with any degree of satisfaction at having become, to a certain extent, such a public personage. The notoriety, as she regards it, has, indeed, absolutely upset her equanim-

RECEIVER FOR WATER PLANTS

Important Industries of East Chicago Are in Trouble.

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 11.—Judge Anderson of the federal court has named the Indiana Trust company, of this city as receiver for the East Chicago Water Works company, the East Chicago and Northern Indiana War's company, the East Chicago Light and Power company and the Lake County Water and Light company. The receiver was directed to notify the city of East Chicago that in the future it will have to pay all water and light rentals as fixed by ordinance. The receiver is forbidden to contract for any improvements in excess of the current revenues, or in any event for more than $250. The suit is one to quiet title and it is believed it will have no effect on industrial development of the city.

RICH WOMAN DIES IN SQUALOR

Police Find $50,000 in United States Bonds in Dirty Basement.

New York, Nov. 11.—Mrs. Mary Oliver, a widow, 56 years old, has been found dead in the squalid basement of a tenement house in Second avenue, where she had lived as a recluse for twenty-five years. When the police searched the place they found United States bonds and other securities to the value of $50,000. Neighbors say the woman's estate is valued at more than $500,000. Her death was from natural causes.

Hardly a dozen feet from the spot where the old woman lay James Alderdic, an old man who had for years collected the rents from a number of houses owned by Mrs. Oliver and attended to all her business, was found dying from an apoplectic stroke.

VARITY MEN IN HARD PRACTICE

The Wisconsin Football Team Goes
Through a Severe Course of Sprouts Tuesday.

Hard practice on the field from 2:30 until 5:30 o'clock at the university yesterday, and another hour of signal work in the gymnasium in the evening, was the measure of work meted out to the varsity football men yesterday. The scrimmage of over half an hour, between the first and second teams, was the fiercest of the year, and the score at the end of the scrimmage was even, each side having scored once. The second team, however, all through the practice, was favored with extra downs in which to make the necessary distance, and the score was made by Coach Curtis giving them the ball on the varsity's ten-yard line and allowing them six trials in which to force the oval over the line.

The varsity score was made on straight football soon after the kick-off, and having scored once the varsity devoted the rest of the time to punting. Bush again doing the kicking and keeping up the good record that he has made so far.

Abbott, Finlay, and Wrabetz of the regulars were the only men not in the scrimmage. Capt. Abbott was kept out because of a slight injury to his hand. Finlay was not allowed in the scrimmage because of his injured eye, and Wrabetz was kept on the side lines as a result of the barbed wire cut he recently received. Knoble was tried at left end in place of Abbott, Thompson filled Finlay's position, and Robinson was worked at right half. At fullback on the first team Seefeld went in first and played a strong game until Peterson displaced him. About the middle of the practice Vanderboom gave way to Burkhardt, who is the substitute left half.

The team work of the eleven was particularly good and the varsity backs had little trouble in making big gains through the heavy scrub line and around the ends. The only trouble that might be found was in the blocking for punts, which was not particularly good. Franke and Smith, the two second team backs, played their positions well. Franke making one ten-yard gain during the practice.

A PLEASANT TRIP WITH THE CIRCUS

Janesville Boys Hope to Travel with Ringlings' Again Next Year—
Joyce Wounded by Leopard.

The three Janesville boys who joined Ringlings' circus on the sixth of July and travelled with the aggregation throughout the far west, enjoyed their outing thoroughly and hope to make another trip of the same kind next year. They say that their work was not unpleasant or tedious, as one would naturally suppose. About four hours each day they were busied at their tasks. The train carrying the menagerie invariably left towns where one day's stand was made, about ten o'clock in the evening. This gave them plenty of sleep. Their bunks were kept neat and clean with fresh linen every few days and the food was wholesome, and well cooked. Altogether the trip was an ideal one.

Big Crowds See Show
The circus this year showed before the largest audiences in its history. In San Francisco there were sixteen regular performances and no less than fifteen "turnarounds." In Los Angeles the big tent holding 15,000 was crowded morning and evening for a week. The same conditions in a smaller degree was encountered elsewhere. In some towns where only one day stands were made the audiences crowded into the hippodrome track so that the performers could scarcely effect an entrance.

Many Big Guns
The boys were impressed with the big guns that were everywhere in evidence in Texas. They found the color line closely drawn in this and other southern states and at times when two-thirds of the audience was made up of colored people, seats were reserved from them apart from the whites, and the latter pushing through crowds, shoving the colored men aside without arousing any show of resistance. In one town they saw a negro riddled with bullets for committing some slight misdemeanor.

Few Unpleasant Experiences
The circus was fortunate enough to encounter very few mishaps. There were no railroad wrecks, a small collision being the only thing that marred the even tenor of the trip over the rails. At Fort Dodge, Iowa, a rain-storm transformed the country into a sea of mud and twenty horses were unable to budge the first van that was unloaded. The performance there had to be abandoned. The Forepaugh-Sells circus narrowly escaped quarantine in San Antonio, Texas, on account of the yellow fever last week. The Ringling show was lucky enough to escape that region. J. El Joyce has a bad scar on one of his hands as the result of a little encounter with one of the leopards but the other lads escaped unscathed. Frank Gardner has gone to Baraboo to remain with the circus during the winter.

CONSULAR BILL IS INTRODUCED

Mr. Adams, of Pennsylvania, Seeks to Reorganize the Entire Diplomatic Service.

Washington, Nov. 11.—Reorganization of the consular service as recommended by commercial and other organizations of Chicago is proposed in a bill which was introduced in the House by Mr. Adams of Pennsylvania. The measure is a duplicate of that pending last Congress for which several Chicago committees worked so diligently. It provides for strict recognition and enforcement of the merit system and for building up a permanent consular corps.

INVESTIGATE FIAT MONEY.

Secret Service Men Probe Case at Webster City.

Washington, Nov. 11.—Attention of the treasury secret service officials has been called to the issuance of fiat money at Webster City, Iowa, and an investigation will be made to determine whether the law is being violated. Decisions in the federal courts at Chicago and other cities have been against the government in its attempt to prevent the issuance of trade checks. Lumber, mining and other companies make it a practice to pay employees in store checks, a practice held by the courts to be lawful, although strenuously opposed by many. So long as the checks or orders call for redemption in exchange for a certain value of goods, and are not in violation of government money, there is no violation of the law. It has been found possible to suppress the checks when stamped as worth a specified amount of money.

Cannon's Secretary.

Washington, Nov. 11.—Speaker Cannon has selected as his secretary L. White Busbey, well known throughout the middle west as a political writer. Mr. Busbey has been the Washington correspondent of the Chicago Inter Ocean since 1896. His new duties will not interfere with his newspaper work. Prior to coming to Washington Mr. Busbey made a specialty of political work in Illinois, and by frequent trips over the state has probably a wider acquaintance with Illinois politicians than any other newspaper correspondent in Washington. He will be the buffer to stand between "Uncle Joe" and the outside world. His duties will not be clerical. Mr. Busbey is popular with public men of all parties and with the newspaper fraternity, and will prove a valuable addition to "Uncle Joe's" staff.

Speaker Cannon has reappointed Ascher C. Hinds of Maine as clerk to the speaker's table.

Postmaster for St. Louis.

Washington, Nov. 11.—Frank Wyman has been nominated to be postmaster at St. Louis. He is a brother of Surgeon General Wyman of the public health and marine hospital service. The appointment ends a long factional fight among Missouri Republican leaders over the office. The president went outside of both factions in the selection of the postmaster.

The president has also sent the following original nominations to the senate, as well as all those made during the recess:

To be consul: Thomas J. Cummins, New York, at Puerto Cabello, Venezuela.

United States circuit judge for the eighth judicial circuit: William C. Hook, Kansas.

Associate justice of the supreme court of the District of Columbia: Daniel Thew Wright of Ohio.

Judge of the United States court for the northern district of Indian Territory: Joseph A. Gill, Indian Territory.

Calumet Drainage Bill.

Washington, Nov. 11.—Representative Mann of Chicago will shortly introduce a bill for the construction of a canal from the Calumet river to the drainage canal to carry off the sewage which is now emptied into that river. Mr. Mann had a similar bill before the last session. Members of the Illinois delegation from down-state will oppose the bill on the ground that the Illinois river has raised a foot or more since the opening of the drainage canal, and they fear the increased volume of water which will be necessary to carry off the sewage from the Calumet river would cause further damage from overflow in the lowlands.

German Centenarian.

Frau Charlotte Wechsler, of Stuttgart, attained her hundredth birthday on June 8. She has been a widow for sixty-four years. The mayors of Stuttgart and Ulm personally congratulated her on her centenary, and the king of Wurtemberg sent her a magnificently bound Bible, through her grandson, Major Fabre du Four.

Woman Dentist Retires.

Dr. Elvira Castner of Marlenfeld, near Berlin, who was one of the first German women to come to this country to study a profession closed to her in Germany, has given up her profession of dentistry after many years of successful work, and is devoting herself to a school of horticulture for women, founded by herself. There are now a number of women dentists in Germany.

The middle-aged woman who gives her attention to very young men does not realize how matronly it makes her appear.

THE AMERICAN BEAUTY.

A Composite Made of Photographs of Society Women Noted for Their Attractiveness.

Both in its modeling and composition the typical American face is entirely distinctive. A characteristic style in architecture or literature in the United States remains perhaps to be developed, but the American character, temperament, spirit, call it what you will, has already stamped itself indelibly on our physiognomy. The American woman as a type is famous for beauty touched with intelligence. And although the type is comparatively new her character is indicated as unmistakably as that of any of her European sisters. The American woman is recognized the world over. The type is besides found in bewildering variety, yet each is unmistakable. The blending of many familiar types of

TYPICAL AMERICAN BEAUTY.
(The Result of a Composite Photograph of Twenty New York Women.)

American womanhood in the composite photograph reproduced herewith affords a unique opportunity for judging the typical face.

Familiar as the type, or rather types, are, few perhaps can call up a definite mental picture of the general type itself. The composite face of American women, therefore, fills a long felt want. A score or more of artists have patronized the American girl. The drawings are almost always interesting, many of them are charming and all may be readily identified as the American girl, yet no two are alike or even similar. No other country in the world, it is safe to say, affords such an opportunity to its artists. In England, for instance, there is a well known type of beauty, somewhat pale and expressionless, perhaps, but unmistakably English. And there is only one in America there is often a single family in which every daughter illustrates an entirely distinctive beauty, yet without losing the family resemblance.

The composite photograph combines as far as possible the most characteristic types of American beauty as illustrated by twenty well known New York women. It is too much, of course, to claim that the list is complete, but it is at least fairly representative. Nor can it be claimed for such a blending that the ideal type of American beauty has been attained. So varied and distinctive are the types that hundreds of types would have to be considered in such a balance. The composite face, however, is as general and representative as it well can be. Compare it with the typical beauties of other countries, allowing for the impressionistic effect inseparable from such a picture, and the result to be the most critical eye cannot fail to be reassuring.

The American woman as portrayed in her composite photograph contrasts strikingly with the typical faces of other countries. The face is perhaps, less nervous than that of the typical French woman, especially the young French woman, but to the American eye, at least, it seems better balanced, in contrast with a characteristic English face the difference is especially marked. The two faces express an entirely different mentality. The American woman, set beside her English cousin, suggests wider and more varied interests and an unmistakable air of independence which strangely becomes her. Compared with the typical Teutonic face, the American woman appears the more alert and vivacious.

Among those whose photographs make up the composite are Miss Helen Morton, Mrs. Chauncey M. Depew, Mrs. Payne Whitney, Miss Alice Housely, Miss Nathalie Schenck, Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt, Jr., and Mrs. John Jacob Astor—Kansas City Star.

MAY WED A DUKEDOM.

Gladys Deacon, American Beauty and Heiress, Is in Favor with English Peer.

Gladys Deacon has been the guest of the duke of Norfolk and his sister, Lady Mary Howard, at Arundel castle. The invitation extended to the lovely American girl has been a subject of much comment in London, as the duke is one of the most reserved of men and has no liking for the new and rich who year after year get a firmer footing in London society.

Since the death of the duchess sixteen years ago the duke has lived almost the life of a monk except when official duties at court compelled him to appear in public. Moreover, the duke is not a lover of young people and seldom is seen speaking to the young girls of society.

That Miss Deacon has been down to Arundel by the duke's special invitation has, of course, given rise to rumor, and it is suggested that Miss Deacon being a Roman Catholic and the duke a Catholic leader, and being anxious for a direct heir to his dukedom, the bright American girl might have a chance one day of wearing a coronet with strawberry leaves. The duke is a great scholar. Miss Deacon is an exceptionally clever young woman, well read and a brilliant conversationalist.

Writing in a recent number of M. A. P. (Mainly About People) T. P. O'Connor says under the heading: "Two American Beauties."

"The Miss Deacons have arrived in London for the season. Once again America has given its beauty and charm to the old world."

"Miss Gladys Deacon made her first appearance in England about two years ago and was accompanied by Mrs. Arthur Paget and by the duchess of Marlborough. Her friendship with the latter dates from 1895, when she acted as one of the duchess' child bridesmaids in the memorable wedding in New York. This youthful intimacy was maintained, and Miss Deacon formed one of a brilliant house party at Blenheim when the German crown prince was the guest of the occasion. Her style of beauty is fair, blue-eyed and radiant, she has a rose-leaf complexion, sunny hair and the sweetest of smiles. She has been educated on the continent and spent some years in a French convent. As a consequence she is a good linguist, cosmopolitan and thoroughly up to date."

"For a girl in 'smart' society she is a simple dresser, wears few jewels and prefers girlish gowns of crepe, muslin or chiffon. Her portrait has been painted by Whistler and by several other noted artists in London and Paris."

"The younger Miss Deacon is almost as beautiful as her sister, but in an entirely different style. She is taller, darker, more stately and much more sedate. Her school days have been passed in Berlin."

"These two lovely Americans appeared at Mrs. Adair's recent fancy dress ball, one dressed as a Greek maiden and the other as Primavera after Botticelli's famous picture."

TO DEVELOP THE CHEST.

Easy Way by Which to Increase Bust
Measurement Two Inches in Three Months.

The neck and chest can be developed in only three months by the following rules:

As you walk about raise the shoulders quickly and then throw them back and then down. Count quickly as you do it—1-2-3—raising them to 1 and so on. After going through this three times or more, you are ready to walk properly. Keep the chest out and be careful each time not to let the shoulders come forward at the last count—3. They must go down and back, if anything.

As you walk, continually keep the chest pushed out and the abdomen and stomach forcibly drawn in. See how long you can hold your breath, and as you hold it, raise the chest higher and higher. This is what singers do when they wish to sustain long passages in one breath.

When you find you must exhaust your breath, do not let the chest fall, and take the breath instantly and quietly through the nose only and by pushing out the sides. Then instantly begin slowly drawing in the sides and abdomen and raise the chest higher and higher.

Any one who will try this will increase in measure from shoulder to shoulder and around bust two inches in three months.—Chicago Inter Ocean.

ENTR' ACTE

[Copyright, 1903, by T. C. McClure.]
"Of course you knew all along."
He was tearing the edges of the programme into shreds and did not look at her.

"I did not, you silly boy. How could I? You never said a word."

"But I looked."

"Lots look."

"Harvey?"

"He looks lovely."

"How do I look?"

"Bertie! You big, silly, silly kid child!"

"Don't laugh at me, then. It isn't a joke."

She leaned over the plush rail of the box and let a rose leaf flutter, light as a baby butterfly, down to the tier below.

"You girls must have loads of proposals."

"Why?"

"Oh, you all take it so easy. You just laugh at a fellow and look pleasant and all that."

"Have you asked so many, Bertie?"

"Ten. Scored, didn't you? Honest, though, I haven't, Gwen; just you, dear."

"There was that Ferris girl."

"Who? Madge—little Madge Ferris? I wasn't in love with her. We just chummed. You know, Gwen. She was a great chum."

"Did you ever kiss her, Bertie?"

"Not since she was old enough to fight. That isn't anything. I've kissed you, Gwen."

Dead silence; orchestra plays "La Paloma."

"Gwen, the tip of your ear's awfully pink. Turn around, won't you? I don't care. I did, it was down at Faraway Beach, that summer. 'Memor, Gwen? You were an awfully funny little, gawky kid those days. Fuzzy hair and big eyes."

"You used to call me a walleyed friz-top," she said over her shoulder, and her eyes were full of dream light and her voice was low. "It was ages ago."

"And I chased you that day. You could run as fast as us boys. Way up the beach, past the cottages and the hill road, up to where the rocks began."

"There was a cave with shells in the sand, and seaweed tangled in the rocks"—She bent nearer with parted lips of expectancy.

"The Green Dragon's cave, you called it, member. And I caught you there and kissed you hard, didn't I, Gwen? And you said it wasn't fair, 'cause you turned into a mermaid as soon as you reached the cave."

"And you said you were a wave, then, and could follow. Wasn't it fun?"

"Great fun, Gwen, Gwen, darling. I wish I had you there this minute."

"I slapped you."

"And then I held your hands and kissed you again. I was good those days. Returned a kiss for a blow. And you didn't slap that time. You laughed and kissed back."

"It was ages ago."

She bent over the rail again away from him. His eyes were so full of something—something—it unnerved her, and the others were watching. She could almost feel Harvey's gaze.

"But, dear, I've been loving you all the time. I'm not a kid, Gwen. Listen to me. Turn your head again. You're afraid."

"Of what?"

"Your eyes. They tell."

After a pause.

"Dare you?"

She turned slowly and looked at him.

"You silly boy!"

"Sweetheart!"

"I'm not, Bertie, don't! Mamma's watching!"

"And Harvey? Is he so very rich, Gwen? Say, Gwen, don't be like a frog in his evening suit? Gwen, look at that old fossil and then at me. Love me, Gwen?"

"The curtain will go up in a minute. Hush!"

"Gwen!"

"Hush—dear!"

"You darling! Say it again!"

"Dear, dear, dear! Now will you believe?"

"If I could tell him for sure, Gwen—did, I mean—that I had you for sure you know, dear, he'd stand by us; I know he would. He isn't like the women. All they think of is landing a fellow like Harvey and his cash. Dad knows I love you. He'd give me a start, dear heart. It would be fun starting together, wouldn't it, Gwen? You're young, and I'm young. I would do anything in life with you to say 'Go ahead,' Gwen."

"The curtain is rising."

"Never mind. The rest will look at the stage. Just give me your hand if you're afraid, sweetheart—just your hand for answer. When I bend forward put your hand down, and they won't see. Please, Gwen. Then I'll be good, dear. Just to be sure. Your eyes told me. Oh, you darling!"

Curtain rises. Her fan falls.

Culture and Politeness in Caracas.

Caracas has a public library which contains not less than 50,000 volumes. The better class of citizens are not only educated as we understand the word, but accomplished to a degree not common in North America. Both sexes are able to speak three or four languages besides their own and are well up in art and music. As for politeness, there are no such people under the sun. Whenever a Venezuelan, male or female, writes a letter, whether to a dear friend or stranger, he or she invariably concludes it with the words, Beso sus manos, "I kiss your hands," and whenever a Venezuelan gentleman meets a lady, whether it be his sweetheart or his grandmother, he hastens to assure her that he is "lying at her feet."

JOIN TO FIGHT TRADES UNIONS

Anti-boycott Association Plans to Carry On Great Contest.

New York, Nov. 11.—To fight labor unions which tie up the building trades and cause employers to lose millions of dollars many New Yorkers have joined the American Anti-boycott association, one of whose leading principles is "organized violation of the law must be met by organized enforcement of the law." It is believed that this organization will achieve results and cause such a feeling of security that prospective investors who would be willing to put millions into legitimate commercial enterprises, but are deterred through fear of walking delegates and strikes, will no longer hesitate. To place this organization, to which more than 100 manufacturers and employers of labor throughout the United States already belong, upon a business footing, it is proposed to assess each member $1 on each $2,000 of yearly pay roll until a fund of $250,000 is raised.

DYNAMITE IS FOUND IN HOTEL

Crime Is Averted at Oregon, Wis. by Timely Discovery of Danger.

Madison, Wis., Nov. 11.—The town of Oregon, Kane county, is stirred up over an effort to kill scores of people by wrecking the Grand Central hotel. The explosive was a mass of dynamite which filled a cigar box. The package had been placed underneath the clerk's desk in the office of the hotel and contained enough of the explosive to demolish the building with its sixty guests. The sheriff has started an investigation, but as yet has failed to secure any clue. Mr. Walters, the proprietor of the hotel, is a popular man and no motive can be assigned for the attempt at wholesale murder.

British Troops in Battle.

Aden, Nov. 11.—Fighting is reported in the Hinterland between British troops and the Cutebi tribe. Eight men of the Hampshire tribe are reported wounded. The loss of the tribesmen was heavy, the dead including the son of the chief Sheik.

Excitement Kills Broker.

New York, Nov. 11.—While the heavy liquidation in steel preferred was in progress Leonard G. Vail, a Stock Exchange broker, who was watching the ticker, became greatly excited and fell dead.

Miser Leaves Fortune.

Des Moines, Iowa, Nov. 11.—Joe Walkenheimer, an aged bachelor living in a hotel in Seavastopol, a suburb of this city, was found dead in his bed. Walkenheimer was supposed to be a pauper, but when his place was searched a will was found leaving $25,000 in cash to relatives in St. Louis.

Loses Her Teeth.

A Joplin woman was on a train recently, when, while leaning from a window, she coughed out her false teeth. She insisted that the train be stopped instantly, for she was going on a visit to her sister, who, she declared, would never, never recognize her without her teeth. The trainmen, however, did not agree with her.

Old Boat to the Iron Pile.

The steamship Britannic of the White Star line, which ushered in the era of speed and luxury in ocean travel, now, after twenty-nine years of service, goes to the bonfire. She first reduced the record to below eight days, has never lost a day through accident to her machinery, and has crossed the Atlantic 520 times, traveling seventy times the distance around the earth.

Judy Spry.

A Hoboken citizen at the age of 108 climbs five flights of stairs every now and then and likes the exercise. And he is not in training for the golden stairs at that.
